Mercury Adhesives Launches New Caddy for Fall Building Season

Cumming, Georgia 9/12/07

Mercury Adhesives has done it again with the launch of their new Mercury Caddy.

About The Mercury Caddy

The Mercury Caddy is a unique and revolutionary new product that is changing the way builders are able to organize their adhesives. The caddy ships complete in a single box that contains one bottle of each of the 1 oz Mercury CA's and thread lockers as well as the DB68 Debonder and MH16 Accelerator.

Just in time for the holidays the caddy comes as all laser cut parts and is designed for you to take it home and assemble with your new Mercury Adhesives glue. The Mercury M100XF high performance is especially suited for the assembly as the caddy is constructed from laser cut lite ply. The caddy will easily fit on any workbench as well as into most flight or field boxes.

The package containing the caddy and the complete line of Mercury products has a retail value of $102 but most retailers are offering it during the holidays for a very special $69.99. This is a $32 savings to you and simply a great deal to have all of the Mercury adhesives you need in one organized place!

The Caddy Package contains:

Mercury Caddy, M5T 1oz, M300M 1 oz, M1100G 1 oz, M100XF 1oz, M3500FL 1oz, M100F 1oz, M1000F 10z, 4 Pack Assorted Thread Lockers

About Mercury Adhesives

Cliff Whitney, cofounder recently stated "Most users have never given much thought to their adhesives but Mercury is changing the way users think about and use adhesives. The Mercury tag line says it best.... Scientifically Engineered Adhesives!"

Mercury recognizes that quality is of the utmost importance and has put in place the technology and a global supply infrastructure to get things done. Each Mercury product is specifically formulated for a given task. Steve Evans, cofounder added "We are proud that our adhesives are accredited ISO9001-2000 and QS9000. The medical division products are USP Class VI approved, and our products possess numerous military and original equipment manufacturers approvals. These high quality products and standards allow all Mercury products to carry an unconditional warranty."

No more clogging up, No more hardened CA, No more frustration!
